PRETORIA, Sept. 15.—It is understood that the government will draw up the reply in its first form today, and immediately submit the same to the volksraad.

The situation is not considered to favorable as it was during the forenoon. LONDON, Sept. 15.—The Pretoria cor respondent of The Times says: "It is very doubtful whether an unqualified acceptance of Great Britain's demands will be given." The Paris correspondent of The Times says that M. Delcasse, the French foreign minister, has directed the French consul in the Transvaal to endeavor to persuade President Kruger to accept Mr. Chamberlain's promise. The Pretoria correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says: "The members of the volksraad received Mr. Chamberlain's dispatch defiantly today (Thursday.) Individual members declare that Great Britain must moderate her demands. "On the other hand, a rumor is current that President Kruger favors compliance, and even suggests that he desires the irreconcilables to leave Pretoria and consult their constituents, thereby avoiding their opposition. The Times publishes the following from Johannesburg: "The mystery surrounding the attitude of the Orange Free state continues. President Steyn's silence is interpreted as showing an intention to support the Transvaal through thick and thin, though his influence at present is on the side of peace. Public feeling is running very high and, unless President Kruger makes an emphatic announcement in favor of conciliation, the great majority of the Boers will inevitably vote against any concessions beyond a seven years' franchise."

First Official Enrollment of the East End Building.

CLEANING UP THOMPSON PARK

Several Men Now at Work Improving the Tract Donated to the City-Items of Interest About East End People and the Busy Suburb.

The first enrollment of the East End school was taken this morning, and from the figures obtained more scholars are now attending the school than at any time since the building was opened. The following is the number of scholars in each room: No. 1, 53; 2, 55; 3, 42; 4, 61; total, 270.

In speaking of the enrollment this morning Superintendent Rayman said: "The rooms are not all filled, and there are many children in East End that are not now going to school, but who will within a few weeks. It is probable that the enrollment will amount to about 300 before the first of the year."

CLEANING THE PARK.

Many Changes to be Made on the Tract That Was Donated to the City.

W. L. Thompson, who recently donated 100 acres of ground to the city for park purposes, has placed several men at work clearing the grounds. This is being done under the supervision of Finley Cooley. It will require much time to place the ground in proper condition, but the work will continue until every bit of the tract is gone over. When this work is completed trees will be planted and other improvements necessary to have the grounds look neat will be added.

JAMES M'CUICEN

Went to Sleep at the Depot and Was Arrested by Whan.

Mayor Bough returned yesterday from the Lisbon fair and this morning when he appeared at his office he found James McGuigen, of Pittsburg, occupying a cell in the city jail.

It seems that James went to sleep yesterday at the passenger station and when requested to move became sassy. Officer Whan took James to the city hall. When he appeared before Mayor Bough he exhibited a ticket to Pittsburg and said he was waiting for a train when he was arrested. The mayor turned him loose as he didn't think he deserved being fined.

Susy McCoy will be taken to Lisbon tomorrow.

Seventh Day Adventists Elders Are In Chester.

REMAIN MANY WEEKS

They Came From Cumberland and Say 14 Members of the Organization Reside In Liverpool-Oscar Allison Given an Office In the State Council of Mechanics.

P. N. Provience and J. W. Lair came up from Cumberland and pitched their tents on the ground near the residence of Justice Finley. The men are elders of the Seventh Day Adventists and will speak to the people of Chester from four to six weeks, weather permitting. Mr. Provience was seen last night and said:

"The End of the World is not far off, and we are living in the last generation. That is what we believe, and while we are here we will try and convince the people we are right. I have my family with me while that of Mr. Lair are staying in Cumberland. We belong to the West Virginia conference and are paid a salary for our work. Unlike the Mormons, we believe in helping ourselves. Our headquarters is in Parkersburg, where we publish a paper and carry on a tract business."

Some Members Here.

There are about 14 members of the organization in Liverpool, the majority of whom live in East End. Several also reside in Wellsville. The meetings each wife. Sunday are held at the residence of John Young on First avenue, East End.

BOXING MATCH.

Three Hot Rounds Fought Yesterday Afternoon In Chester.

Stripped to the waist Thomas Oaks and Thomas Conners boxed three rounds at the mill yesterday afternoon. The affair attracted a large crowd and the bout was about the liveliest ever seen in Chester. The referee declared the affair a draw, but if aggressiveness counted Conners would have won. He hit his opponent on the breast during the second round, sending him to the ground. No blood was brought by either man.

TODD WAS ANGRY.

A Drunk Wanted to Explain a Few Matters to Him Yesterday.

Tollkeeper Todd became angry yesterday afternoon. A man under the influence of liquor refused to pay his toll and went into the office to explain matters. Todd secured a policeman's mace, as he expected trouble, but Night Tollkeeper Arthur Owen appeared and ejected the individual. STILL TALKING.

The Wellsville and Liverpool People Are at It Yet.

The Liverpool and Wellsville baseball teams have not succeeded in patching up their difficulties, and are as far apart as ever. The Wellsville people claim that the short fence at Columbian park helps the home team and if they will play on Wellsville ground they will allow them Burns, Shotwell and Calhoun and play for fun or money. The local team say they are not used to playing ball in a corn field and for that reason want the game played here. It is extremely doubtful if another game will ever be played, as Wellsville has no desire to lose the fifth game when they can quit with the games even.

A COMPARISON.

What was described as "the church element" was slurred in a recent speech in this city as "interfering" in municipal affairs. A glance at the church census, published exclusively in the NEWS REVIEW yesterday, showing that the churches of East Liverpool own property valued at over a quarter of a million dollars, and have nearly 6,000 active members and almost 4,000 Sunday school scholars, evokes the natural and pertinent query, what element has more at stake or is more entitled to "interfere" for the good government of the

Is the "saloon" element, with 53 cheap drinking dens, more entitled to "interfere" in municipal affairs?

The "church element" represents all that is progressive, public-spirited and up-building in the community. The saloon element represents all that is vicious, degraded and down-pulling. Who ever heard of a city boasting of the number of its salocns, drunkards and homeless children, resulting from the success of the saloon element? Yet East Liverpool can be justly proud of the number and wealth of its churches, the number of its church members and the number of its children in the Sunday schools of this city.

VICIOUS BOYS.

The actions of the youngsters who so inhumanly treated sparrows should result in their hot punishment.

THE AIR GUN.

There will be a fatality in the city in consequence of the careless use of this weapon. Many of the boys making use of them are absolutely reckless in their attempts to bring down sparrows, and some human being will yet be the victim. Our policemen should take a hand in the matter.

A COMPARISON.

What was described as "the church element" was slurred in a recent speech in this city as "interfering" in municipal affairs. A glance at the church census, published exclusively in the News Review yesterday, showing that the churches of East Liverpool own property valued at over a quarter of a million dollars, and have nearly 6,000 active members and almost 4,000 Sunday school scholars, evokes the natural and pertinent query, what element has more at stake or is more entitled to "interfere" for the good government of the city?

Is the "saloon" element, with 53 cheap drinking dens, more entitled to "interfere" in municipal affairs?

The "church element" represents all that is progressive, public-spirited and up-building in the community. The saloon element represents all that is vicious, degraded and down-pulling. Who ever heard of a city boasting of the number of its salocns, drunkards and homeless children, resulting from the success of the saloon element? Yet East Liverpool can be justly proud of the number and wealth of its churches, the number of its church members and the number of its children in the Sunday schools of this city.

William Leroy Stone Again In Trouble.

POCKETBOOK THIS TIME

He Took It From Little Ed Ferguson, but Returned Fifty Cents--The Police Are on the Trail of Stone and He Will be Brought to Justice.

William Leroy Stone, the youngster who Officer Grim chased down Sixth street Labor Day, is again in trouble.

Yesterday afternoon Edward Ferguson, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Ferguson, Fourth street, started with a pocketbook to buy some candy at a grocery store a short distance from the residence. On the way he met Stone, who at once spied the pocketbook and asked for a penny. He met with a refusal and proceeded to grab the pocketbook and inspect its contents. In it was $7.50 and as Stone didn't want to act the hog he only took $7 in bills and returned the pocketbook and 50 cents to the Ferguson boy who started home crying.

The police were telephoned at once, but Stone and the money had disappeared and have not been seen since.

than Were ordered more months ago.

Already we have placed orders for next summer's wear.

The style-makers are just a year ahead of the consumers, and we keep pace with the leaders.

It may seem premature to show overcoats, but we assure you that smart dressers, shrewd buyers, fashion's followers, have already been here in numbers, and the first break in the thermometer will find many of the new suits and top coats parading the streets of East Liverpool.

You'll be casting envious eyes on your neighbors, and wishing you had anticipated. You're anxious to be a leader--why not come in right now?

There may be some slight alteration to be made; that's at our expense. But it takes time, no matter who is to pay for it.

So confident are we of the wear, and the retention of shapeliness, that for six months we keep the suit or top garment in ship-shape, free of any extra charge.

Irritation on Account of Wilmington's Cruise Allayed.

RECEPTION AT MANAOS.

German Traders Said to Have Encouraged Ill Feeling-Officer Who Refused Pilots Dismissed-A General Misunderstanding.

The tone of the Brazilian press with respect to the diplomatic incident growing out of the voyage of the United States gunboat Wilmington up the Amazon river to Tabatinga and the Madeira river last April and May is now more fair to the United States, says a dispatch from Rio de Janeiro.

Officers of the Wilmington have declined to discuss the affair, but from other and reliable sources an impartial account of what transpired to bring about a temporary irritation between the governments of Brazil and the United States has been obtained.

Announcement of the intended voyage of the Wilmington up the Amazon had appeared in the American papers as long ago as December, 1898, and they were republished by the Brazilian journals and reported to this government by the Brazilian minister at Washington. As permission had been given in 1879 for the United States man-of-war Enterprise to ascend the Amazon as far as the Madeira river, it was thought that no objection would be made to its ascent by the Wilmington on a scientific expedition.

In order to avoid all complications, both the commander of the Wilmington and the American consul at Para made application to the federal gov ernment through the government at Para on March 16, and were assured that a favorable answer would be given. The Wilmington waited at Para four days, when she left there for Manaos. During that interval permission could have been given or refused, if such had been the intention, and all subsequent complications saved. Arriving at Manaos, the ship and officers were cordially received by the community and entertained by the governor and social clubs, and after obtaining coal she proceeded 1,500 miles up the Solimoes branch of the Amazon to Iquitos, Peru.

There is no telegraphic communication between Para and Manaos, and, therefore, the news that the Brazilian government claimed the Wilmington had ascended the Amazon without permission reached Manaos after the gunboat had started for Iquitos. Several Manaos journals, opposed to the present federal and state government, printed inflammatory articles against the ship and Americans, until a small mob stoned the American consulate, though the consul was absent at the time.

The strongest political factor at Manaos is Eduardo Robeiro, a Portuguese mulatto. For his silence and clever manipulation he is called "El Pensador" (the thinker), and he is the undisputed maker of governors in the great state of Amazonas. He and his party failed to check the agitation against the Americans. The Manaos journals went further than the Para and Rio newspapers and said that the Wilmington had ascended the Amazon in defiance of the Brazilian government, and that she was making soundings and surveys of the river to assist the contemplated annexation of the Amazon valley by the United States.

About this time appeared also Cecil Rhodes' interview, in which he said destiny would impel the United States to acquire all South America. Continental trade journals took good care that the interview, with comments, reached all South American countries. This caused fear and hatred in Brazil toward the United States.

The Wilmington arrived before Manaos from Iquitos. She wanted coal and pilots to get back to the sea. The ranking federal official in Manaos was the naval officer commanding the Amazon fleet of small gunboats and also acting captain of the port. To him the commander of the Wilmington wrote a formal and courteous application for pilots to take his ship down the Amazon to Para. The market value of stones is now 40 per cent higher than it was a year ago, and from present indications there seems to be no prospect that the high water mark has been reached. This fact of itself would, of course, not cause the diamond importers and dealers any anxiety. But there is in addition a remarkable scarcity of stones, and it is probable that the coming season will find a good many traders unable to make good their contracts except at heavy loss, says the New York Times.

It is the great De Beers syndicate which is responsible for this state of things. The syndicate is controlled by Cecil Rhodes and half a dozen other men, and they have apparently determined to limit the output of the Kimberley mines-which in reality means the output of the world-to an infinitesimal quantity. EFFECT OF DREYFUS CASE.

French Purchasers of American Horses Cease Buying.

Horse and mule commission dealers in Kansas City declare that the Dreyfus trial has materially affected the local horse market. One of the heaviest firms of horse buyers in Paris set out about two months ago to buy 3,000 American horses. Many of them were to be used as cab horses in Paris during the exposition. The French agent in St. Louis sent an American, Wheeler by name, to buy in Kansas City. Mr. Wheeler bought and shipped 120 horses. Then one day recently he received a telegram instructing him to buy nothing more, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. The French buyers were paying $60 for horses, and farmers are willing to sell for $45. The speculators thus saw good profits ahead.

When the order to quit buying came, the local dealers were rounding up horses from every direction. They are now unloading these at a net loss to themselves. Inquiry developed the information that the French buyers are alarmed because of the excitement created by the Dreyfus case, which seems to have the same effect of making investors timid that a presidential campaign has in the United States.

Irritation on Account of Wilmington's Cruise Allayed.

RECEPTION AT MANAOS.

German Traders Said to Have Encouraged III Feeling-Officer Who Refused Pilots Dismissed-A General Misunderstanding.

The tone of the Brazilian press with respect to the diplomatic incident growing out of the voyage of the United States gunboat Wilmington up the Amazon river to Tabatinga and the Madeira river last April and May is now more fair to the United States, says a dispatch from Rio de Janeiro.

Officers of the Wilmington have declined to discuss the affair, but from other and reliable sources an impartial account of what transpired to bring about a temporary irritation between the governments of Brazil and the United States has been obtained.

Announcement of the intended voyage of the Wilmington up the Amazon had appeared in the American papers as long ago as December, 1898, and they were republished by the Brazilian journals and reported to this government by the Brazilian minister at Washington. Irritation on Account of Wilmington's Cruise Allayed.

RECEPTION AT MANAOS.

German Traders Said to Have Encouraged Ill Feeling-Officer Who Refused Pilots Dismissed-A General Misunderstanding.

The tone of the Brazilian press with respect to the diplomatic incident growing out of the voyage of the United States gunboat Wilmington up the Amazon river to Tabatinga and the Madeira river last April and May is now more fair to the United States, says a dispatch from Rio de Janeiro.

Officers of the Wilmington have declined to discuss the affair, but from other and reliable sources an impartial account of what transpired to bring about a temporary irritation between the governments of Brazil and the United States has been obtained.

Announcement of the intended voyage of the Wilmington up the Amazon had appeared in the American papers as long ago as December, 1898, and they were republished by the Brazilian journals and reported to this government by the Brazilian minister at Washington. As permission had been given in 1879 for the United States man-of-war Enterprise to ascend the Amazon as far as the Madeira river, it was thought that no objection would be made to its ascent by the Wilmington on a scientific expedition.

In order to avoid all complications, both the commander of the Wilmington and the American consul at Para made application to the federal government through the government at Para on March 16, and were assured that a favorable answer would be giv en. The Wilmington waited at Para four days, when she left there for Manaos. During that interval permission could have been given or refused, if such had been the intention, and all subsequent complications saved. Arriving at Manaos, the ship and officers were cordially received by the community and entertained by the governor and social clubs, and after obtaining coal she proceeded 1,500 miles up the Solimoes branch of the Amazon to Iquitos, Peru.

There is no telegraphic communication between Para and Manaos, and, therefore, the news that the Brazilian government claimed the Wilmington had ascended the Amazon without permission reached Manaos after the gunboat had started for Iquitos. Several Manaos journals, opposed to the present federal and state government. printed inflammatory articles against the ship and Americans, until a small mob stoned the American consulate, though the consul was absent at the time.

The strongest political factor at Manaos is Eduardo Robeiro, a Portuguese mulatto. For his silence and clever manipulation he is called "El Pensador" (the thinker), and he is the undisputed maker of governors in the great state of Amazonas. He and his party failed to check the agitation against the Americans. The Manaos journals went further than the Para and Rio newspapers and said that the Wilmington had ascended the Amazon in defiance of the Brazilian government, and that she was making soundings and surveys of the river to assist the contemplated annexation of the Amazon valley by the United States.

About this time appeared also Cecil Rhodes' interview, in which he said destiny would impel the United States to acquire all South America. Continental trade journals took good care that the interview, with comments, reached all South American countries. This caused fear and hatred in Brazil toward the United States.

It is openly alleged that the German traders at Manaos added to the irrita-

The Wilmington arrived before Manaos from Iquitos. She wanted coal and pilots to get back to the sea. The ranking federal official in Manaos was the naval officer commanding the Amazon fleet of small gunboats and also acting captain of the port. To him the commander of the Wilmington wrote a formal and courteous application for pilots to take his ship down the Amazon to Para. The captain of the port not only wrote a discourteous letter in reply, but published an order in the Manaos papers forbidding any pilot from serving on the Wilmington under penalty of imprisonment and revocation of license.

Captain Todd managed to obtain coal, but how to navigate 1,200 miles in the treacherous Amazon without pilots was a facer. English and German captains who have traded in the Amazon all their lives refused to move without two pilots. Captain Todd, however, said to his navigator, "Go ahead," which was done at full speed day and night, the Wilmington making such good speed as to beat the Brazilian mail steamer to Para. Captains say this performance of the Wilmington is unheard of, and the Brazilian authorities say they do not believe it possible and are looking for pilots smuggled on board. The facts are Is a Dreyfus tie.

that Captain Todd was very observan: in ascending the Amazon, and his navi gator. Lieutenant Carter, made such copious hydrographic notes and obser vations of the channel that in descend ing without pilots they crossed the bars and dangerous places with knowl edge and confidence.

The Brazilian naval officer at Manaos has been dismissed for his actions, and without doubt the Brazilian govern ment will express its regret at the in cident and permit the rene val of its previous cordial relations with the United States.

A DIAMOND FAMINE.

One Is Threatened on Account of the Transvaal Troubles.

The possibility of a war between Great Britain and the South African republic has already had a disquieting effect on at least one industry in the United States. The diamond market is in a condition which could almost be described as one of panic. The market value of stones is now 40 per cent higher than it was a year ago, and from present indications there seems to be no prospect that the high water mark has been reached. This fact of itself would, of course, not cause the diamond importers and dealers any anxiety. But there is in addition a remarkable scarcity of stones, and it is probable that the coming season will find a good many traders unable to make good their contracts except at heavy loss, says the New York Times.

France and other countries where there are large markets for the sale of precious stones to visit South Africa in the summer in order to make their purchases.

Frequent and bitter have been the complaints which have reached Maiden lane and Covent Garden from South Africa this year. The prices keep on going up (within the last few days there has been an advance of 10 per cent), and even at the highest figures it is hard to secure any diamonds. The offices of the De Beers company are open only a very few hours each day. and the number of would be buyers is so great that it takes weeks before a newcomer has a chance of being sup-

EFFECT OF DREYFUS CASE.

French Purchasers of American Horses Cease Buying.

Horse and mule commission dealers in Kansas City declare that the Dreyfus trial has materially affected the local horse market. One of the heaviest firms of horse buyers in Paris set out about two months ago to buy 3,000 American horses. Many of them were to be used as cab horses in Paris during the exposition. The French agent in St. Louis sent an American, Wheeler by name, to buy in Kansas City. Mr. Wheeler bought and shipped 120 horses. Then one day recently he received a telegram instructing him to buy nothing more, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. The French buyers were paying $60 for horses, and farmers are willing to sell for $45. The speculators thus saw good profits ahead.

When the order to quit buying came, the local dealers were rounding up horses from every direction. They are now unloading these at a net loss to themselves. Inquiry developed the information that the French buyers are alarmed because of the excitement created by the Dreyfus case, which seems to have the same effect of making investors timid that a presidential campaign has in the United States.

AMPUTATED WITH A ROPE.

Three Fingers Neatly Cut From a Cowboy's Hand.

Robert Jackson of Kirkland Valley. A. T., while engaged in roping and tying cattle at Hillside Station recently, met with an unusual and serious accident which caused the loss of three fingers of his right hand. He had thrown the rope and was in the act of addional for candling.) taking the turns around the horn of his saddle when the steer jumped into the air, tightening the rope with such force that his thumb and the second and third fingers were entirely severed from his hand and fell on the ground underneath the horse he was riding. He said it was all done in a moment and that he did not realize what had occurred until the intense pain seized

Many accidents have happened to range men in the saddle, in such casualties as being burned by the rope and fingers being broken, but this is the first instance we have heard of a person having three fingers entirely severed from the hand and as perfectly amputated as if done by a surgeon's knife.-Arizona Journal-Miner.

SEASON OF FEACE FOR KENTUCKY.

The Foes of the Howards Promise to Come Back From the Philippines and Slay Them-The Feud Is Not Ended and Will Be Renewed With Increased Vigor.

Peace reigns in the mountains of Clay county. Ky., for the fighting men of the famous Baker family, knowing themselves overpowered, beaten and outnumbered, resolving not to stand and be killed nor to sue for peace with the Howards, have enlisted in the United States army. The fighting strength of the Baker family is gone. The boys have joined Company M of the new Thirty-first United States volunteer infantry and are now at San Francisco waiting to go aboard the transports bound for Manila.

Forty of the most famous of the Kentucky fighters-Bakers, Hatfields and Whites-are in Company M. The Whites of Company M, although related to the Whites of the Howard family, are friends of the Bakers and related to them through marriage and are exiled with them through fear-if the word can be used in connection with these men-of extermination. The boys are marching to war, but they vow to return when the two years of service in the Philippines is over, and one of them, a corporal, says when they do they will rally, and there will be left no Howard in all Kentucky.

The Thirty-first regiment, under Colonel Pettit, was recruited at Fort Thomas, in the highlands back of Newport, Ky. When the call for troops to suppress the rebellion in the Philippines came and recruiting of the new Thirty-first commenced, a blue eyed, handsome mountaineer, armed with a revolver, came and announced his intention of enlisting. He was examined and accepted. He was Bob Baker, one of the nerviest men and one of the best shots in the mountains, and everybody in the Kentucky hills can shoot.

Within a week he was joined by a dozen of his brothers and kinsmen, and when the regiment moved on Aug. 18 there were 42 of the clan enrolled in Company M, and peace was assured in Clay county for the next two years at least. Of those 42 men every one is a crack shot, but they long for their pistols and will not be reconciled with a Krag-Jorgensen.

One of them, talking to his lieutenant just as the train moved, said:

"We'll come back, and when we do them fellows had better watch out." Outnumbered and driven from home, the spirit of the feudists still held strong in the mountain lads.

They declare the Bakers are not yet whipped and that they will revenge themselves yet. They say they cannot hope to contend with the Howards unless they secure allies, and they hint that the Philpots, one of the strongest clans in the mountain country, are friendly to the Bakers and that if the Philpots ever come out openly against the Howards the feud will end in the extermination of the Howards and the Griffin-Morris families. The Philpots and Griffin-Morris clans have been at war for five years.

Bob Baker, a corporal in Company M, is the leader of the Bakers in that company. His father, one brother and three cousins have been killed in the last four years. His cousin, Tom Baker, was killed recently while in the guardhouse of a Kentucky militia regiment surrounded by soldiers. He was being held for the killing of Will White. KANSAS SOLDIER'S LETTER.

Corporal Sample, Shot Through the Head. Tells How It Feels. A letter from Corporal Frank I. Sample, the young Twentieth Kansas soldier who was shot through the brain at San Fernando, in the Philippines, has just been received at Leavenworth, Kan., says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. In it he tells how it feels to be shot through the head and to have part of the brain removed. The boy seems to have plenty left, and his letter. which was written from the general hospital at the Presidio, Cal., and dated Aug. 20, 1899, reads as follows:

"Dear Friend-I just received your most welcome letter and was glad to know that you had not forgotten me. It is true one generally kicks the bucket' when he gets it in the head, especially if they take out most of his brains, which they did for me. I didn't know a thing for 21 days after I was hit, didn't even know that I was hit at all, and they wouldn't tell me where I was hit. They never told me that ! was hit in the back of the head with the shell of a Remington. Of course I did not know the difference until 1 went on the hospital ship Relief. That doctor, who was a fine one, told me where I was shot and said I had no business to be there at all, that I should be dead. I told him that he might think so, but I didn't.

"The bullet (a Mauser) struck me an inch behind the left temple, passing through the brain and coming out in the same position on the opposite side. Everybody thought I was dead except the doctors. I was dead to the world. When I did come to, I was in ward 2. first reserve, Manila. If you have a newspaper picture of me, I wish you would send it to me. I would like very much to have a newspaper cut of myself. But if the newspaper is gone, never bother about it. I feel as good now as though I was the best man in town and have never had a headache since I was shot. How is that? I have often been asked what my head was made of, and all I could say was head at least that long to be well."

PROGRESS MADE IN CUBA.

Major Sturgis, Recently Returned.

Speaks of Present Conditions. Major S. D. Sturgis, who has been on General Fitz-Hugh Lee's staff in Cuba and who also served in the Philippines, was in Chicago recently on his way to Manila, where he has been ordered. He reported to General M. V. Sheridan and will soon leave for the Philippines. Discussing the conditions in Cuba, Major Sturgis said to a Chicago Record reporter:

"The hardest part of the work of reconstruction in the Cuban provinces has been done, and the conditions are all that could be expected considering the length of time the Americans have been in command. The giving away of rations has been stopped. Of course there is still much poverty, but there is no distress. The government has been able to provide work for all who wanted it at from 75 cents to $2 a day, and the natives for the most part have taken readily to work. Some of them persist in resting after they have worked two or three days, but the number of these is small considering the fact the Cubans had never been taught to work. Many of the alcaldes themselves perform manual labor.

"Planting the devastated lands is going on rapidly, and six months from now the island should be exceedingly prosperous. Much of the sugar land is being planted in tobacco because the cane could not have been crushed owing to the destruction of the sugar houses during the war. The receipts of the insular government are in excess of the expenses, and the surplus is being used in the improvement of the public schools and other public institutions. The police system has been brought to a high degree of efficiency for rural police, and the hospital system is receiving much attention. There seems to be nothing but prosperity ahead for the island."

Both Name and Reputation Bad.

According to Professor Howard, the evil work ascribed to the alleged "kissing bug" was done either by the melanolestes picipes, the opscoelestus personatus, the cannibal bug, the coriscus subcoloratus, the spotted corsair, the blood sucking conenose or the rhasahus thoracius, says the Boston Globe. It is easy to believe that bugs with names like those would be capable of anyHATFIELD PLAN SELFDEFENSE.

Defense Claimed the Man He Murdered Fired First.

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Sept. 15.-In the trial of Elias Hatfield for the murder of H. E. Ellis, July 3, the plea sought to be sustained by prisoner's counsel is that the killing was done in selfdefense. It was proved that after Hatfield insulted Ellis he withdrew a few steps from the train. Ellis then walked back into the coach, got his Winchester, returned to the platform of the coach, presented the gun, and said. - you, come.'

Two shots were fired, almost simultaneously. The defense maintains that Ellis fired first. The prisoner will testify, the evidence will be completed and arguments begun today. The jury try ing the case were selected from 90 men summoned as jurors, about 40 of whom were rejected because related to Hatfield and half that number to Ellis.

It is the belief among lawyers that Hatfield will be convicted of manslaughter. George McKenzie, captured on Monday with the Hatfields, was released on bond. A special grand jury will be empaneled today to find an indictment against members of the band captured on Monday. The excitement ts still great and further trouble is Sculptors and the Dewey Arch.

If the Dewey memorial arch in New York doesn't turn out to be some thing handsome and artistic, it will not be for any lack of talent at work on it. says the Boston Herald. It is not often that one can find most of the prominent sculptors of a metropolis engaged together in a single great work, but this is the case in New York, where a score of sculptors are devoting their time to the colossal work without stint. The generosity of the sculptors in making a gift to the city of professional services worth in the aggregate an immense sum is something worthy of note in itself.

PROGRESS MADE IN CUBA.

Major Sturgis, Recently Returned. Speaks of Present Conditions.

Major S. D. Sturgis, who has been on General Fitz-Hugh Lee's staff in Cuba and who also served in the Philippines, was in Chicago recently on his way to Manila, where he has been ordered. He reported to General M. V. Sheridan and will soon leave for the Philippines. Discussing the conditions in Cuba, Major Sturgis said to a Chicago Record reporter:

"The hardest part of the work of reconstruction in the Cuban provinces has been done, and the conditions are all that could be expected considering the length of time the Americans have been in command. The giving away of rations has been stopped. Of course there is still much poverty, but there is no distress. The government has wanted it at from 75 cents to $2 a day, and the natives for the most part have taken readily to work. Some of them persist in resting after they have worked two or three days, but the number of these is small considering the fact the Cubans had never been taught to work. Many of the alcaldes themselves perform manual labor.

"Planting the devastated lands is going on rapidly, and six months from now the island should be exceedingly prosperous. Much of the sugar land is being planted in tobacco because the cane could not have been crushed owing to the destruction of the sugar houses during the war. The receipts of the insular government are in excess of the expenses, and the surplus is being used in the improvement of the public schools and other public institutions. The police system has been brought to a high degree of efficiency for rural police, and the hospital system is receiving much attention. There seems to be nothing but prosperity ahead for the island.'

HATFIELD PLAN SELFDEFENSE.

Defense Claimed the Man He Murdered

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Sept. 15.-In the trial of Elias Hatfield for the murder of H. E. Ellis, July 3, the plea sought to be sustained by prisoner's counsel is that the killing was done in selfdefense. It was proved that after Hatfield insulted Ellis he withdrew a few steps from the train. Ellis then walked back into the coach, got his Winchester, returned to the platform of the coach, presented the gun, and said:

"Now, — you, come."
Two shots were fired, almost simultaneously. The defense maintains that Ellis fired first. The prisoner will testify, the evidence will be completed and arguments begun today. The jury trying the case were selected from 90 men summoned as jurors, about 40 of whom were rejected because related to Hatfield and half that number to Ellis.

It is the belief among lawyers that Hatfield will be convicted of manslaughter. George McKenzie, captured on Monday with the Hatfields, was released on bond. A special grand jury will be empaneled today to find an indictment against members of the band captured on Monday. The excitement is still great and further trouble is feared.

Washington, Sept. 15. - President McKinley is daily receiving letters, petitions and resolutions from various parts of the country urging him to mediate in behalf of Dreyfus, and suggesting that he tender his good offices in the pending dispute between Great Britain and the Transvaal.

The administration will take no action, holding that until the interests of the United States, or the rights of her citizens, are involved it is not within the province of this country to meddle in the domestic or foreign affairs of other countries.

Sculptors and the Dewey Arch.

If the Dewey memorial arch in New York doesn't turn out to be some thing handsome and artistic, it will not be for any lack of talent at work on it, says the Boston Herald. It is not often that one can find most of the prominent sculptors of a metropolis engaged together in a single great work, but this is the case in New York, where a score of sculptors are devoting their time to the colossal work without stint. The generosity of the sculptors in making a gift to the city of professional services worth in the aggregate an immense sum is something worthy of note in itself.

Forty-two Hatfields, Bakers and Whites Join the Army.

SEASON OF PEACE FOR KENTUCKY.

The Foes of the Howards Premise to Come Back From the Philippines and Slay Them-The Feud Is Not Ended and Will Be Renewed With Increased Vigor.

Peace reigns in the mountains of Clay county. Ky., for the fighting men of the famous Baker family, knowing themselves overpowered, beaten and outnumbered, resolving not to stand and be killed nor to sue for peace with the Howards, have enlisted in the United States army. The fighting has just been received at Leavenworth, strength of the Baker family is gone. The boys have joined Company M of the new Thirty-first United States volunteer infantry and are now at San Francisco waiting to go aboard the transports bound for Manila.

Forty of the most famous of the Kentucky fighters-Bakers, Hatfields and Whites-are in Company M. The Whites of Company M, although related to the Whites of the Howard family, are friends of the Bakers and related to them through marriage and are exiled with them through fear-if the word can be used in connection with these men-of extermination. The boys are marching to war, but they vow to return when the two years of service in the Philippines is over, and one of them, a corporal, says when they do they will rally, and there will be left no Howard in all Kentucky.

The Thirty-first regiment, under Colonel Pettit, was recruited at Fort Thomas, in the highlands back of Newport, Ky. When the call for troops to suppress the rebellion in the Philippines came and recruiting of the new Thirty-first commenced, a blue eyed, handsome mountaineer, armed with a revolver, came and announced his intention of enlisting. He was examined and accepted. He was Bob Baker, one of the nerviest men and one of the best shots in the mountains, and everybody in the Kentucky hills can shoot.

Within a week he was joined by a dozen of his brothers and kinsmen, and when the regiment moved on Aug. 18 there were 42 of the clan enrolled in Company M, and peace was assured in Clay county for the next two years at least. Of those 42 men every one is a crack shot, but they long for their pistols and will not be reconciled with a Krag-Jorgensen.

A few days ago, when the company was on the rifle range, Bob Baker, brittle, or it would have been blown and Frank Wall, Charles Pastor and shooting over 400 yards, scored 96 out off. I will most likely have to stay Charles Delaney of the Tenth Pennsyl of a possible 100, and when his lieutenant congratulated him on his marksmanship he said: "That ain't nothin. If I only had my 45 Winchester, I reckon I could shoot some."

The Baker and White boys of Company M as they clambered-for the first time in their lives—into the sleep ers that were to carry them to San Francisco and gazed for the last time in two years, perhaps forever, at the Kentucky hills went hopefully. One of them, talking to his lieutenant just as the train moved, said:

"We'll come back, and when we do them fellows had better watch out." Outnumbered and driven from home, the spirit of the feudists still held strong in the mountain lads.

They declare the Bakers are not yet whipped and that they will revenge themselves yet. They say they cannot hope to contend with the Howards unless they secure allies, and they hint that the Philpots, one of the strongest clans in the mountain country, are friendly to the Bakers and that if the Philpots ever come out openly against the Howards the feud will end in the extermination of the Howards and the Griffin-Morris families. The Philpots and Griffin-Morris clans have been at war for five years.

Bob Baker, a corporal in Company M, is the leader of the Bakers in that company. His father, one brother and three cousins have been killed in the last four years. His cousin, Tom Baker, was killed recently while in the guardhouse of a Kentucky militia regiment surrounded by soldiers. He was being held for the killing of Will White. John and Sid Baker are the best shots and the nerviest men of the clan. They are brothers, but have arrayed themselves on different sides of the feud, for Sid Baker married a Howard and since has fought with the clan of his wife against his own fam-

Bundy Green, private in Company M. is a cousin of the Bakers and in the recent rifle practice on the range at Fort Thomas made the best score of all the sharpshooters of the company. Recently he scored 96 out of a possible 100 at 400 yards. He is known as the best shot with a Winchester in all the mountains and last Christmas killed 12 turkeys straight at 300 yards, and every turkey was hit in the head.

Corporal Bob Baker, the military leader of the clan, seems to bear a charmed life. He has been the especial object of dislike of the Howards for several years, and half a dozen attempts to kill him have failed. He has never been scratched by a bullet. thing.

He and his brother, who afterward was killed, were with their father when he was fired upon and killed. and together the boys killed their father's slayer, John Wilson.

Among the recruits in Company M is another famous Kentucky fighter. Jim Hatfield, a nephew of "Old Cap" Hatfield, who enlisted, so he says, because he hates peace. Hatfield carries a bullet in his thigh which was buried there when he was but 13 years old. and he quietly adds in telling the story that he killed the man who shot him a year later.

KANSAS SOLDIER'S LETTER.

Corporal Sample, Shot Through the Head, Tells How It Feels.

A letter from Corporal Frank I. Sample, the young Twentieth Kansas soldier who was shot through the brain at San Fernando, in the Philippines, Kan., says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. In it he tells how it feels to be shot through the head and to have part of the brain removed. The boy seems to have plenty left, and his letter. which was written from the general hospital at the Presidio, Cal., and dated Aug. 20, 1899, reads as follows:

"Dear Friend-I just received your most welcome letter and was glad to know that you had not forgotten me. It is true one generally 'kicks the bucket' when he gets it in the head, especially if they take out most of his brains, which they did for me. Washington, Sept. 15 .- A report has been received by mail at the war department giving an account of the capture and destruction of the steamer Saturnus, which carried $40,000 in cash and a valuable cargo, accounts of which have appeared in press dispatches.

There is absolutely no truth in the rumor of the assassination or murder of the crew of the vessel.

It is generally believed that a portion of the crew, and perhaps some of the passengers, were in league with the rebels, and, knowing that the insurgent had a concealed battery planted there, ran the vessel ashore under the rebel guns so as to make the looting more

A subsequent report received here states that the crew and passengers of the Saturnus were all safe an uninjured at Tarlac, the Filipino capital. It was expected that the crew and passengers would arrive in Manila soon, as it was said that they were free to go where they pleased unmolested. The Saturnus was fully insured against loss, including the risk of war.

Position of the Orange Free State Likely to Influence the Situation-The French Foreign Minister Urges Kruger to Accept the British Proposals.

LONDON, Sept. 15 .- The consul general of the South African republic, Mr. Montague White, said to a reporter:

"I have good authority for believing that the Transvaal reply will be unsatistactory to the British government.'

A forecast of the first Transvaal reply to the last note of the British secretary of state for the colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, now under discussion in the volksraad, has been received by Mr. Chamberlain, but its nature is not yet known.

PRETORIA, Sept. 15.—It is understood that the government will draw up the reply in its first form today, and immediately submit the same to the volksraad.

The reply will be in terms strongly influenced by the Orange Free State. and among other features the maintenance of the convention of 1884 will be strongly asserted.

The situation is not considered to favorable as it was during the forenoon. London, Sept. 15.—The Pretoria cor respondent of The Times says: "It is very doubtful whether an unqualified acceptance of Great Britain's demands will be given." The Paris correspondent of The Times says that M. Delcasse, the French foreign minister, has directed the French consul in the Transvaal to endeavor to persuade President Kruger to accept Mr. Chamberlain's promise.

The Pretoria correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says: "The members of the volksraad received Mr. Chamberlain's dispatch defiantly today (Thursday.) Individual members declare that Great Britain must moderate her demands. "On the other hand, a rumor is current that President Kruger favors compliance, and even suggests that he desires the irreconcilables to leave Pretoria and consult their constituents, thereby avoiding their opposition. The Times publishes the following from Johannesburg: "The mystery surrounding the attitude of the Orange Free state continpany's store, after a vacation spent with ues. President Steyn's silence is interpreted as showing an intention to port the Transvaal through thick and thin, though his influence at present is on the side of peace. Public feeling is running very high and, unless President Kruger makes an emphatic announcement in favor of conciliation, the great majority of the Boers will inevitably vote against any concessions > ballot. At the morning session the Carroll and Monroe county delegations broke to Gill, giving him within five of enough votes to nominate, and at the opening of the afternoon session Mr. Weems withdrew and sufficient votes from Belmont were cast for Gill to give him the nomination. The last ballot resulted in Gill receiving 106 > votes and Hollingsworth 60. An effort was made to throw the Hollingsworth strength to Weems, which would have given him the nomination, but it failed, whereupon Weems withdrew. Although hotiy contested, the convention was harmonious throughout, and all the defeated candidates neartily pledged the nominee their support.

VICIOUS BOYS.

The actions of the youngsters who so inhumanly treated sparrows should result in their hot punishment.

THE AIR GUN.

There will be a fatality in the city in consequence of the careless use of this weapon. Many of the boys making use of them are absolutely reckless in their attempts to bring down sparrows, and some human being will yet be the victim. Our policemen should take a hand in the matter.

A COMPARISON.

What was described as "the church element" was slurred in a recent speech in this city as "interfering" in municipal affairs. A glance at the church ers, the newest creations out, at the census, published exclusively in the NEWS REVIEW yesterday, showing that the churches of East Liverpool own property valued at over a quarter of a million dollars, and have nearly 6,000 active members and almost 4,000 Sunday school scholars, evokes the natural and pertinent query, what element has more at stake or is more entitled to "interfere" for the good government of the city?

Is the "saloon" element, with 53 cheap drinking dens, more entitled to "interfere" in municipal affairs?

The "church element" represents all that is progressive, public-spirited and up-building in the community. The saloon element represents all that is vicious, degraded and down-pulling. Who ever heard of a city boasting of the number of its salocns, drunkards and homeless children, resulting from the success of the saloon element? Yet East Liverpool can be justly proud of the number and wealth of its churches, the number of its church members and the number of its children in the Sunday schools of this city.

Young Scoundrels Who Are now, quick. Ripening For the Penitentiary.

A number of bad boys have been assembling of late in the immediate neighborhood of the foundry on Walnut, between Kossuth and Forest streets, and umn. have been acting in a manner which will eventually land them in the reformatory or penitentiary. They are impudent in a marked degree, will curse and blackguard of the lady residents of the neighborhood who dare to interfere with or endeavor to check them in their cruel and infamous practices. The other day they succeeded in catching a sparrow and tore it limb from limb in the presence of a well known lady, and cursed her with bitter curses when she told them it was inhuman to thus abuse and maltreat any living creature. A short time afterward the members of the same crew of young ruffians caught another bird and picked the feathers from its body, apparently rejoicing greatly at the cries of the innocent little victim, and then, in order to further annoy and worry the lady referred to above, they carried the plucked bird to the window of her kitchen and showed her what they had done. The horrified woman shrank away from the bloodthirsty young rascals and endeavored to secure the services of a policeman, but was unable to find a guardian of the peace. Some of the hoodlums may find themselves in hot water, as the lady may be able to point them out to the officers of the

OUR TOP COATS AND OUR SUITS FOR FALL, 1899-1900

Were ordered more than months ago.

Already we have placed orders for next summer's wear.

The style-makers are just a year ahead of the consumers, and we keep pace with the leaders.

It may seem premature to show overcoats, but we assure you that smart dressers, shrewd buyers, fashion's followers, have already been here in numbers, and the first break in the thermometer will find many of the new suits and top coats parading the streets of East Liverpool.

You'll be casting envious eyes on your neighbors, and wishing you had anticipated. You're anxious to be a leader--why not come in right now?

There may be some slight alteration to be made; that's at our expense. But it takes time, no matter who is to pay for it.

So confident are we of the wear, and the retention of shapeliness, that for six months we keep the suit or top garment in ship-shape, free of any extra charge.

Irritation on Account of Wilmington's Cruise Allayed.

RECEPTION AT MANAOS.

German Traders Said to Have Encouraged Ill Feeling-Officer Who Refused Pilots Dismissed-A General Misunderstanding.

The tone of the Brazilian press with respect to the diplomatic incident growing out of the voyage of the United States gunboat Wilmington up the Amazon river to Tabatinga and the Madeira river last April and May is now more fair to the United States, says a dispatch from Rio de Janeiro.

Officers of the Wilmington have declined to discuss the affair, but from other and reliable sources an impartial account of what transpired to bring about a temporary irritation between the governments of Brazil and the United States has been obtained.

Announcement of the intended voyage of the Wilmington up the Amazon had appeared in the American papers as long ago as December, 1898, and they were republished by the Brazilian journals and reported to this government by the Brazilian minister at Washington. As permission had been given in 1879 for the United States man-of-war Enterprise to ascend the Amazon as far as the Madeira river, it was thought that no objection would be made to its ascent by the Wilmington on a scientific expedition.

In order to avoid all complications, both the commander of the Wilmington and the American consul at Para made application to the federal government through the government at Para on March 16, and were assured that a favorable answer would be given. The Wilmington waited at Para four days, when she left there for Manaos. During that interval permission could have been given or refused. if such had been the intention, and all subsequent complications saved. Arriving at Manaos, the ship and officers were cordially received by the community and entertained by the governor and social clubs, and after obtaining coal she proceeded 1,500 miles up the Solimoes branch of the Amazon to Iquitos, Peru.

There is no telegraphic communication between Para and Manaos, and, therefore, the news that the Brazilian government claimed the Wilmington had ascended the Amazon without permission reached Manaos after the gunboat had started for Iquitos. Several Manaos journals, opposed to the present federal and state government, printed inflammatory articles against the ship and Americans, until a small mob stoned the American consulate, though the consul was absent at the

The strongest political factor at Manaos is Eduardo Robeiro, a Portuguese mulatto. For his silence and clever manipulation he is called "El Pensador" (the thinker), and he is the undisputed maker of governors in the great state of Amazonas. He and his party failed to check the agitation against the Americans. The Manaos journals went further than the Para and Rio newspapers and said that the Wilmington had ascended the Amazon in defiance of the Brazilian government, and that she was making soundings and surveys of the river to assist the contemplated annexation of the Amazon valley by the United States. About this time appeared also Cecil Rhodes' interview, in which he said destiny would impel the United States to acquire all South America. Continental trade journals took good care that the interview, with comments, reached all South American countries. This caused fear and hatred in Brazil toward the United States.

It is openly alleged that the German traders at Manaos added to the irrita-

The Wilmington arrived before Manaos from Iquitos. She wanted coal and pilots to get back to the sea. The ranking federal official in Manaos was the naval officer commanding the Amazon fleet of small gunboats and also acting captain of the port. To him the commander of the Wilmington wrote a formal and courteous application for pilots to take his ship down the Amazon to Para. The captain of the port not only wrote a discourteous letter in reply, but published an order in the Manaos papers forbidding any pilot from serving on the Wilmington under penalty of imprisonment and revocation of license. Captain Todd managed to obtain coal, but how to navigate 1,200 miles in the treacherous Amazon without pilots was a facer. English and German captains who have traded in the Amazon all their lives refused to move without two pilots. Captain Todd, however, said to his navigator, "Go ahead," which was done at full speed day and night, the Wilmington making such good speed as to beat the Brazilian mail steamer to Para. Captains say this performance of the Wilmington is unheard of, and the Brazilian authorities say they do not believe it possible and are looking for pilots according to an English contemporary, smuggled on board. The facts are Is a Dreyfus tle.

that Captain Todd was very observan; in ascending the Amazon, and his navi gator. Lieutenant Carter, made such copious hydrographic notes and obser vations of the channel that in descend ing without pilots they crossed the bars and dangerous places with knowl edge and confidence.

The Brazilian naval officer at Manaos has been dismissed for his actions, and without doubt the Brazilian govern ment will express its regret at the in cident and permit the rene val of its previous cordial relations with the United States.

A DIAMOND FAMINE.

One Is Threatened on Account of the Transvaal Troubles.

The possibility of a war between Great Britain and the South African republic has already had a disquieting effect on at least one industry in the United States. The diamond market is in a condition which could almost be described as one of panic. The market value of stones is now 40 per cent higher than it was a year ago, and from present indications there seems to be no prospect that the high water mark has been reached. This fact of itself would, of course, not cause the diamond importers and dealers any anxiety. But there is in addition a remarkable scarcity of stones, and it is probable that the coming season will find a good many traders unable to make good their contracts except at heavy loss, says the New York Times.

It is the great De Beers syndicate which is responsible for this state of things. The syndicate is controlled by Cecil Rhodes and half a dozen other men, and they have apparently determined to limit the output of the Kimberley mines-which in reality means the output of the world-to an infinitesimal quantity. It is customary for the representatives of the large importing houses of the United States. England. France and other countries where there are large markets for the sale of precious stones to visit South Africa in the summer in order to make their purchases.

Frequent and bitter have been the complaints which have reached Maiden lane and Covent Garden from South Africa this year. The prices keep on going up (within the last few days there has been an advance of 10 per cent), and even at the highest figures it is hard to secure any diamonds. The offices of the De Beers company are open only a very few hours each day, and the number of would be buyers is so great that it takes weeks before a newcomer has a chance of being supplied.

EFFECT OF DREYFUS CASE.

Purchasers of American Horses Cease Buying.

Horse and mule commission dealers in Kansas City declare that the Dreyfus trial has materially affected the local horse market. One of the heaviest firms of horse buyers in Paris set out about two months ago to buy 3,000 American horses. Many of them were to be used as cab horses in Paris during the exposition. The French agent in St. Louis sent an American, Wheeler by name, to buy in Kansas City. Mr. Wheeler bought and shipped 120 horses. Then one day recently he received a telegram instructing him to buy nothing more, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. The French buyers were paying $60 for horses, and farmers are willing to sell for $45. The speculators thus saw good profits ahead.

When the order to quit buying came, the local dealers were rounding up horses from every direction. They are now unloading these at a net loss to themselves. Inquiry developed the information that the French buyers are alarmed because of the excitement created by the Dreyfus case, which seems to have the same effect of making investors timid that a presidential campaign has in the United States.

AMPUTATED WITH A ROPE.

Three Fingers Neatly Cut From a Cowboy's Hand.

Robert Jackson of Kirkland Valley, A. T., while engaged in roping and tying cattle at Hillside Station recently, met with an unusual and serious accident which caused the loss of three fingers of his right hand. He had thrown the rope and was in the act of taking the turns around the horn of his saddle when the steer jumped into the air, tightening the rope with such force that his thumb and the second and third fingers were entirely severed from his hand and fell on the ground underneath the horse he was riding. He said it was all done in a moment and that he did not realize what had occurred until the intense pain seized

Many accidents have happened to range men in the saddle, in such casualties as being burned by the rope and fingers being broken, but this is the first instance we have heard of a person having three fingers entirely severed from the hand and as perfectly amputated as if done by a surgeon's knife.-Arizona Journal-Miner.

If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

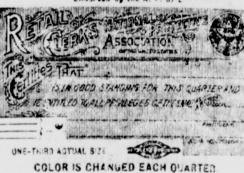

The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent work ing hours and union labor employed.

All Union papers of East Liverpool are cown to the various craft and unions of he city by the printing of the above Juion Labels at the head of their columns

Forty-two Hatfields, Bakers and Whites Join the Army.

SEASON OF PEACE FOR KENTUCKY.

The Foes of the Howards Premise to Come Back From the Philippines and Slay Them-The Feud Is Not Ended and Will Be Renewed With Increased Vigor.

Peace reigns in the mountains of Clay county. Ky., for the fighting men of the famous Baker family, knowing themselves overpowered, beaten and outnumbered, resolving not to stand and be killed nor to sue for peace with the Howards, have enlisted in the United States army. The fighting strength of the Baker family is gone. The boys have joined Company M of the new Thirty-first United States volunteer infantry and are now at San Francisco waiting to go aboard the transports bound for Manila.

Forty of the most famous of the Kentucky fighters-Bakers, Hatfields and Whites-are in Company M. The Whites of Company M, although related to the Whites of the Howard family, are friends of the Bakers and related to them through marriage and are exiled with them through fear-if the word can be used in connection with these men-of extermination. The boys are marching to war, but they vow to return when the two years of service in the Philippines is over, and one of them, a corporal, says when they do they will rally, and there will be left no Howard in all Kentucky.

The Thirty-first regiment, under Colonel Pettit, was recruited at Fort Thomas, in the highlands back of Newport, Ky. When the call for troops to suppress the rebellion in the Philippines came and recruiting of the new Thirty-first commenced, a blue eyed, handsome mountaineer, armed with a revolver, came and announced his intention of enlisting. He was examined and accepted. He was Bob Baker, one of the nerviest men and one of the best shots in the mountains, and everybody in the Kentucky hills can

Within a week he was joined by a dozen of his brothers and kinsmen. and when the regiment moved on Aug. 18 there were 42 of the clan enrolled in Company M, and peace was assured in Clay county for the next two years at least. Of those 42 men every one is a crack shot, but they long for their pistols and will not be reconciled with a Krag-Jorgensen.

A few days ago, when the company was on the rifle range, Bob Baker, shooting over 400 yards, scored 96 out of a possible 100, and when his lieutenant congratulated him on his marksmanship he said: "That ain't nothin. If I only had my 45 Winchester, I reckon I could shoot some."

The Baker and White boys of Company M as they clambered-for the first time in their lives—into the sleep ers that were to carry them to San Francisco and gazed for the last time in two years, perhaps forever, at the Kentucky hills went hopefully. One of them, talking to his lieutenant just as the train moved, said:

"We'll come back, and when we do them fellows had better watch out." Outnumbered and driven from home, the spirit of the feudists still held strong in the mountain lads. They declare the Bakers are not yet whipped and that they will revenge themselves yet. They say they cannot hope to contend with the Howards unless they secure allies, and they hint that the Philpots, one of the strongest clans in the mountain country, are friendly to the Bakers and that if the Philpots ever come out openly against the Howards the feud will end in the extermination of the Howards and the Griffin-Morris families. The Philpots and Griffin-Morris clans have been at war for five years.

Bob Baker, a corporal in Company M, is the leader of the Bakers in that company. His father, one brother and three cousins have been killed in the last four years. His cousin, Tom Baker, was killed recently while in the guardhouse of a Kentucky militia regiment surrounded by soldiers. He was being held for the killing of Will White. John and Sid Baker are the best shots and the nerviest men of the clan. They are brothers, but have arrayed themselves on different sides of the feud, for Sid Baker married a Howard and since has fought with the clan of his wife against his own fam-

Bundy Green, private in Company M, is a cousin of the Bakers and in the recent rifle practice on the range at Fort Thomas made the best score of all the sharpshooters of the company. Recently he scored 96 out of a possible 100 at 400 yards. He is known as the best shot with a Winchester in all the mountains and last Christmas killed 12 turkeys straight at 300 yards, and every turkey was hit in the head. Corporal Bob Baker, the military leader of the clan, seems to bear a charmed life. He has been the especial object of dislike of the Howards for several years, and half a dozen attempts to kill him have failed. He has never been scratched by a bullet.

He and his brother, who afterward was killed, were with their father when he was fired upon and killed. and together the boys killed their father's slayer, John Wilson.

Among the recruits in Company M is another famous Kentucky fighter. Jim Hatfield, a nephew of "Old Cap" Hatfield, who enlisted, so he says, because he hates peace. Hatfield carries a bullet in his thigh which was buried there when he was but 13 years old. and he quietly adds in telling the story that he killed the man who shot him a year later.

KANSAS SOLDIER'S LETTER.

Corporal Sample, Shot Through the Head, Tells How It Feels.

A letter from Corporal Frank I. Sample, the young Twentieth Kansas soldier who was shot through the brain at San Fernando, in the Philippines, has just been received at Leavenworth, Kan., says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. In it he tells how it feels to be shot through the head and to have part of the brain removed. The boy seems to have plenty left, and his letter. which was written from the general hospital at the Presidio, Cal., and dated Aug. 20, 1899, reads as follows:

"Dear Friend-I just received your most welcome letter and was glad to know that you had not forgotten me. It is true one generally 'kicks the bucket' when he gets it in the head, especially if they take out most of his brains, which they did for me. I didn't know a thing for 21 days after I was hit, didn't even know that I was hit at all, and they wouldn't tell me where I was hit. They never told me that ! was hit in the back of the head with the shell of a Remington. Of course I did not know the difference until 1 went on the hospital ship Relief. That doctor, who was a fine one, told me where I was shot and said I had no business to be there at all, that I should be dead. I told him that he might think so, but I didn't.

"The bullet (a Mauser) struck me an inch behind the left temple, passing through the brain and coming out in the same position on the opposite side. Everybody thought I was dead except the doctors. I was deac to the world. When I did come to, I was in ward 2. first reserve, Manila. If you have a newspaper picture of me, I wish you would send it to me. I would like very much to have a newspaper cut of my self. But if the newspaper is gone, never bother about it. I feel as good now as though I was the best man in town and have never had a headache since I was shot. How is that? I have orien been asked what my head was made of, and all I could say was 'something soft.' It certainly isn't brittle, or it would have been blown here six weeks yet, as it will take my head at least that long to be well.

PROGRESS MADE IN CUBA.

Major Sturgis, Recently Returned

Speaks of Present Conditions. Major S. D. Sturgis, who has been on General Fitz-Hugh Lee's staff in Cuba and who also served in the Philippines, was in Chicago recently on his way to Manila, where he has been ordered. He reported to General M. V. Sheridan and will soon leave for the Philippines. Discussing the conditions in Cuba, Major Sturgis said to a Chicago Record reporter:

"The hardest part of the work of reconstruction in the Cuban provinces has been done, and the conditions are all that could be expected considering the length of time the Americans have been in command. The giving away of rations has been stopped. Of course there is still much poverty, but there is no distress. The government has been able to provide work for all who wanted it at from 75 cents to $2 a day, and the natives for the most part have taken readily to work. Some of them persist in resting after they have worked two or three days, but the number of these is small considering the fact the Cubans had never been taught to work. Many of the alcaldes themselves perform manual labor.

"Planting the devastated lands is going on rapidly, and six months from now the island should be exceedingly prosperous. Much of the sugar land is being planted in tobacco because the cane could not have been crushed owing to the destruction of the sugar houses during the war. The receipts of the insular government are in excess of the expenses, and the surplus is being used in the improvement of the public schools and other public institutions. The police system has been brought to a high degree of efficiency for rural police, and the hospital system is receiving much attention. There seems to be nothing but prosperity ahead for the island."

Both Name and Reputation Bad.

According to Professor Howard, the evil work ascribed to the alleged "kissing bug" was done either by the melanolestes picipes, the opscoelestus personatus, the cannibal bug, the coriscus subcoloratus, the spotted corsair, the blood sucking conenose or the rhasahus thoracius, says the Boston Globe. It is easy to believe that bugs with names like those would be capable of anyHATFIELD PLAN SELFDEFENSE.

Defense Claimed the Man He Murdered Fired First.

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Sept. 15.-In the trial of Elias Hatfield for the murder of H. E. Ellis, July 3, the plea sought to be sustained by prisoner's counsel is that the killing was done in selfdefense. It was proved that after Hatfield insulted Ellis he withdrew a few steps from the train. Ellis then walked back into the coach, got his Winchester, returned to the platform of the coach, presented the gun, and said - you, come.'

Two shots were fired, almost simultaneously. The defense maintains that Ellis fired first. The prisoner will testify, the evidence will be completed and arguments begun today. The jury trying the case were selected from 90 men summoned as jurors, about 40 of whom were rejected because related to Hatfield and half that number to Ellis.

It is the belief among lawyers that Hatfield will be convicted of manslaughter. George McKenzie, captured on Monday with the Hatfields, was released on bond. A special grand jury will be empaneled today to find an indictment against members of the band captured on Monday. The excitement is still great and further trouble is

M'KINLEY WILL NOT MEDDLE.

Receiving Petitions to Interfere In Transvaal and Dreyfus Affairs.

Washington, Sept. 15. - President McKinley is daily receiving letters, petitions and resolutions from various parts of the country urging him to mediate in behalf of Dreyfus, and suggesting that he tender his good offices in the pending dispute between Great Britain and the Transvaal.

The administration will take no action, holding that until the interests of the United States, or the rights of her citizens, are involved it is not within the province of this country to meddle in the domestic or foreign affairs of other countries.

Sculptors and the Dewey Arch.

If the Dewey memorial arch in New York doesn't turn out to be something handsome and artistic, it will not be for any lack of talent at work on it, says the Boston Herald. It is not often that one can find most of the prominent sculptors of a metropolis engaged together in a single great work, but this is the case in New York, where a score of sculptors are devoting their time to the colossal work without stint. The generosity of the sculptors in making a gift to the city of professional services worth in the aggregate an immense sum is something worthy of note in itself.
